GEN. McCLELLAN'S DESIRE FOR BLOODLESS VIC-[From the New York Times.]

The following letter, addressed to a friend in this city by an officer of the regular army, holding an important position in its administration, has been handed to us for

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Friday, March 14, 1862. My Dear Sir: A brief parenthesis in the midst of pressing duties enables me to send you a line of acknowledgment for yours, which I received yesterday, at Fairfax Courthouse. We arrived there on Monday, and the next day went on to Manassas Junction. The whole country is deserted by white and black. The Junction was still smoking with the parting conflagration of the rebels, their last division having left the day before our arrival. We found the usual monuments of rebel civilization and presence—houseless chimneys, rising from smouldering ruins. Provisions and forage, clothing and camp equipage, were recklessly scattered round in burning heaps, showing the hot haste and terrible panic in which the traitors had departed.

The entire state of Virginia is surrendered to the Rappahannock, and we have thus obtained all the fruits of a great victory, without the loss of a single life. Those who think that war consists only in fighting, and producing individual suffering and misery instead of military results, will of course rave and denounce as usual. Those who have read history and understand it will think otherwise. Marlborough had ten campaigns and fought but five pitched battles, and with comparatively limited results; while McClellan's winter campaign has ex-tended the flag of the United States over 150,000 miles of territory lately held by the traitors. The wise, intelligent, and humane, who know that the Union can be restored only by the least exasperation and alienation, will applaud the commander who achieves for his country great ends by peaceful means. We might, it is true, have fought a great battle at Centerville, and possibly have wonit. But the place is very strongly fortified, and the quarters, which extend for miles around it, can sccommodate 100,000 men. We might thus have manufactured thousands of widows and orphans in defeating the enemy, with scarcely a possibility of capturing any considerable portion of them, they having two rail-roads in the rear by which to retreat, while the effect upon the termination of the war would have been no more decisive than that now achieved by strategy. The rebels have lost all the resources of one-third of Eastern Virginia by our bloodless victory, and failed to gain anything by their san-guinary success at Bull Run. The malignant blockheads who pour their mendacious slanders upon McClellan through the appropriate funnel of the Tribune, cannot comprehend the conduct of a war except through channels of blood, nor judge of its effects except as seen and heard in the cries and lamentations of broken-hearted women and children. Let them rail on. Thus far McClellan's strategy has been eminently successful, and has exemplified and illustrated the highest qualities of a commander. Mr. William N. Van Wagenen, of Newnew plan of a shot proof hull, and iron for deck, for an armored gunboat. This plan is fitted not only for a gunboat, but also for a marine ram. The model seems to us to present some valuable improvements, which it would be worth while for the Navy Department and our naval con-

Mr. Van Wagenen proposes an iron-clad boat, entirely shot-proof, thoroughly staunch and seaworthy, with a stationary iron fort, within which shall revolve on a turn-table three or four of the heaviest can. non made. The peculiarity of the form of outer edge, which is sharp, and in practice would be of solid oak, ten feet through, armed on the outside with a band of eightinch iron. The deck slants upward at an angle of about ten degrees, is sufficiently pro-tected by two-inch and inch iron plates, and it is impossible to fire a shot straight at it. Everything which hits must glance off. The bow and stern are of solid oak for twenty to twenty-five feet, and as the ship has no cut-water, the sharp, angular prow makes an excellent ram. The water-line of the vessel is a little below the sharp edge, and the bottom is therefore armored from one to two feet down. The stern projects far beyond the rudder and propellor, and gives important protection to these vital parts, which are altogether submerged and out of reach of shot. The tower or fort Mr. Van Wagenen purposes to fasten to the guns revolve within, and present themselves accurately to numerous portholes made in the tower. This he proposes to make of fifteen layers of inch boiler plates, laid over each other in a very ingenious way.

He proposes the following dimensions for a sea going and perfectly sea-worthy iron-clad boat, which will show the novel proportions he brings into use. The hall to be two hundred feet long, sixty-five feet extreme beam, tapering to a sharp point at bow and stern. The lines are alike, stem and stern. Ship builders will see some novel advantages in her form. The ribs and deck beams are nearly alike in shape, and scarcely any crooked timber need be used in the construction. The tower is to be forty feet in outside diameter, thirtyseven inside, eight feet high on the outward edges, five feet high smidships. It sets in the vessel, instead of on its deck. She is to be moved by one propeller, and her lines She will be of very light draught, as is evident from her shape, and would draw about ten feet when in running trim. "Baig. GEN. SHIELDS." FORTRESS MONROE, March 26 .- Contrabands state that the rebel steamer Merrimac having been fully repaired, was brought out of the dry dock on Monday morning, that her crew had been placed on board and she is now ready for action. Several new guns of heavier metal than she used before have been placed on board of her.

The rebel steamers Jamestown and York town have also been greatly strengthened and were fully prepared for action and ready to accompany the Merrimac. The flag of the Yorktown with a Commore's pennant was flying when the contrabands

Three deserters arrived here to-day in a boat from the south side of James river. They belonged to a North Carolina regiment, and report that the Merriman had been daily expected to come out and attack the Monitor for the past three days. The Jamestown made a reconnoissance to day, coming down some distance below Craney Island. The deserters represent that there was great panic among the rank and file of the rebel army on account of the rumors of Federal victories. The newspapers are carefully kept from the rebel soldiers. They have been so often imposed upon by false statements of rebel victories, that they are much diseatisfied. The deserters say that, during the excitement which prevailed in Norfolk immediately after the fall of Roanoke, if a demand had been made on General

Huger, he would have capitulated. A flag of truce went to Norfolk but no news or papers were brought back. A bundle of letters from the Union prisoners at Richmond was received, and patches from General Huger to General

The steamer Constitution arrived from Ship Island, last night. She sailed from there on the 15th instant. Porter's mortan fleet sailed from there on the previous day for the Southwest Pass.

On the 17th, Commodore Farragut's fleet of sloops of war and gunboats was to sail for the same destination. The French steamer Cabinet arrived yesterday from Havanna. The French steamer Gassendi had taken position within two hundred yards of the Monitor.

BALTIMORE, March 26 .- The Fortress Monroe correspondent of the Baltimore American gives the report of two contrabands relative to the condition of the Merrimsc. She returned to Norfolk with six rigged on board. Her fires were extinguished shortly after hauling off from the Monitor.

These contrabands positively assert the death of Captain Buchanan, and that of the of seven seamen, and also a number wounded. They positively assert the death The South had been annually frightened and burial of both. Possibly Lieut, Moore, some story of an abolition monster; yet her second officer, and not Jones, is meant. The Monitor stands out in the roads, this

From Tennessee.

Last Thursday, when our informant left Memphis, the people there were previpitately hurrying into the interior. All cans of railroad and steamboat transportation not monopolized by the Confederate government had been invoked to remove cotton, sugar, molasses, and all kinds of merchant stores from the city. The citizens are represented as being terror stricken, and daily expecting our fleet to confront them. They had some hope, before the taking of New Madrid, that their defenses at Island No. 10 would hold us at bay, but since that and their ineffectual attempt to remove the blockade established by General Pope, they have no confidence in their ability to withstand long our assault upon them at the Island. This place surrounded, they could not rely with any faith upon their defenses at Fort Pillow, and a few days after their defeat at New Madrid evacuated it, leaving a greater part of their ordinance in the river. General Beauregard was at Jackson las for the purpose of taking General Johnson's command from Decatur to Corinth. From all the redezvous in the western portion of the Confederacy troops were being with-drawn and concentrated at Corinth, where, ite military chieftain, they expected to turn back the tide of Federal soldiers that swept them from Kentucky to Tennessee. General Beauregard's idea of concentrating, attacking, and carrying the seat of war to the North has been adopted by the Confeds erates, and they bitterly curse those who have heretofore advocated a dispersion of their forces, with a defensive war, and

THE SUBSORIBER. WHO WAS FOR MANY TEARS a Clerk in the Penslon Office, has for the last twenty years been engaged in proscetting Claims against the General Government. He has thus become familiar with all the laws and regulations of the Departments, which will enable him greatly to facilitate the settlement of Claims. He therefore respectfully offers his services to all such as may need them.

He will procure Pensions for wounded or otherwise disabled Officers and Soleiers, and for the Widows or Mimor Chaloren of such as have died, or may hereafter die from wounds received or disease contracted in the service.

Minor Chiloren of such as have died, or may hereafter die from wounds received or disease contracted in the service.

For Wildows or other Legal Helrs of such as may die or be killed in service, he will procure the $100 promised by the Act of July 21, 1861, and errears of pay.

He will expedite the payment to Discharged Soldiers of all arrears or pay due to them, and the pay for traveling to place of enrollment.

He will undertake to procure and furnish information of any Soldier in the Army now in the South, on application being maie to him by the friends of such Soldier, stating the Company and Regiment to which he belongs, and enclosing three dollars to defray expenses, &c. Where the Company and Regiment cannot be given, the place of collstment must be named. The information in such eases being more difficult to obtain, an additional charge may be made.

He will also undertake the transaction of any other business before Congress, or either of the Executive Departments, which may be entrusted to him—thus rendering the expense of a visit to Washington, by persons employing him, unnecessary.

Being well known in Washington, where he has resided for forty years, he respectfully refers to any old cit zen of the place.

Business will be punctually attended to upon moderate terms.

XXXVIIth Congress-First Session. Washington, March 27.—Senats—As large numbers of them had been taken South, the people in that State had lost property equal in value to the whole amount of her slaves at the commencement of the war. He regarded the present not as a trial, but as a prophecy which he felt would be A very Large and Complete As- fulfilled everywhere, if the war continued sortment of Garden Seeds, War-ranted Fresh and True to Name.

Me was perfectly willing that the proposi-tion should go to the people of his State, and the matter be left entirely to the States. The expenses would have paid for all the slaves in Missouri, Kentucky, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia; and the expenses of the war for two years will pay for all the slaves in the country.

Mr. Pierce, from the Committee on Finance, reported a bill to allow arms ordered by States to aid the suppression of the rebellion to come free of duty.

On motion of Mr. Fessenden, the naval appropriation bill was taken up. A long discussion ensued on the comple-tion of the Stevens battery. No action was and subsequently adjourned.

House—The House in Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union resumed the consideration of the tax bill. Mr. Sheffield offered an amendment that upon all sales of goods, wares, merchandise and other property and estates, which shall be used for consumption or for investment, including exchanges of property, excluding jobbers or middle men, a tax of one per cent. on the amount of such sales. After discussion, the amendment was temporarily withdrawn. Further debate followed. An amendment was adopted taxing candles of any material, valued at not over 15 cents per pound, ½ c per pound; be-tween 15 and 20 cents, 1 cent per pound, and above 20 cents, 1½ cents per pound. An amendment was adopted taxing anthracite coal 15 cents per ton, and bituminous ½ cent per bushel. Adopted, with the provise that it was not to go into effect until the termination of the reciprocity treaty. An amend ment providing for a tax on cotton of 1 cent per pound, after the first of May, was re-jected. An amendment was adopted exempting from duty coal oil, also parafine, whale and fish oils. The tax on burning fluid was stricken out. Adjourned. WASHINGTON, March 27 .- The Senate to. day confirmed the nomination of Lewis S. Ely, of California, as Consul at Acapules. shells were thrown to day, to which no response was made by the rebels.

Col. Buford sent a reconnoitering party of twenty men of the 27th Illinois down the Missouri shore. They arrested three prominent residents, who report that 2,000 negroes are employed on the island and at the batteries along the shore; that 65 rebel troops, including two lieutenants and four negroes, have hear killed have and the same transcriptors. negroes, have been killed by our shells; that the upper battery is abandoned, but the others are being rapidly strengthened; that the enemy is 15,000 strong, and their ncampment has been moved entirely out of range of our guns. The rebels are confirange of our guns. The receis are confident of success, and say they have a good road to Trenton and other points by which they can escape whenever they choose. They have plenty of provisions.

Three rebel steamers loaded with troops were seen watching the shore to prevent ommunication from here.

The total number of the enemy's transports are eleven.

Two balloon ascensions were made by Capt. Steiner, but the weather was too thick for favorable observations.

THE CENSORSHIP OF THE PRESS.—The report STEEL PLOWS. of the Judiciary Committee on the censorship of the telegrams to the press, is so manifestly partial that it will probably be made the subject of inquiry. Some of the most important evidence given before the committee is not even alluded to in the report. The origin of the investigation was the exclusion of the New York Tribune from special favors it had enjoyed in being exempted from the operation of the censorship. In the course of the testimony the following note to the Censor, frem Gen. Cameron, then Secretary of War, was produced:

"WAR DEPARTMENT, Oct. 5, 1861. "MY DEAR SIR:-It is my wish that you neither suppress nor alter the telegrams of Mr. Samuel Wilkeson. Please send them as they are written and signed by him. "Respectfully, SIMON CAMERON.

At the time the Tribune was thus specially against all the rest of the press of the whole country, the Censor was under the control of the War Department. That control was subsequently transferred to the State of the subsequently transferred to the State De-partment, but the Secretary of State declined to revoke the authority given to Mr. Wilkeson by the Secretary of War until the premature publication in the Tribune of a garbled statement, purporting to be the official report of Gen. Stone, upon the Ball's Bluff disaster. The special license of the Tribune was then revoked and its correspondence subjected to the same regulations imposed upon that of other journals. Then imposed upon that of other journals. Then began the warfare upon the Censor and the and conditionally recommend Mr. Worthington to me brother officers and soldiers in Kentucky and elsewhere State Department, which has culminated in a report that suppresses the most important facts developed before the committee. In order to strike at the Secretary of State they denounce the Censor. The prostitution of a grave standing committee of the House of Representatives to such uses is very severely condemned, and many of the members believe it demands a searching investigation and exposure.

Wash. special to N. Y. Herald, 28d.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY AND FUGITIVE SLAVES, -We have heard it stated repeatedly that a considerable number of fugitive slaves are following the United States army on its merch South through this State. These negroes, we presume, have generally absconded, believing that they would be protected by the army, and, if not immediately, ultimately be freed. The action of the army leaders on this subject is of vast importance to the owners of slaves, and we are gratified to state, on the authority of a gentleman of this city, who has had occasion to test the matter, that they are dis-posed to be just and honorable. He visited the camp of Gen. McCook, in Maury county, in quest of a fugitive, and that officer, in-stead of throwing obstacles in his way, afforded him every facility for the successful prosecution of his search. That General treated him in the most courteous and gentlemanly manner, as also did General Johnson, and Captain Blake, the Brigade Provost Marshal. Their conduct towards him was, in all respects, that of high-toned gentlemen, desirous of discharg-ing their duties promptly and honorably. It is impossible for the army to prevent slaves from following them; but whenever the fugitives come into the lines of Gen. McCook, they are secured, and a record made of their names and the names of their owners. All the owner has to do is to apply either in person, or through an agent, examine the record, or look at the slaves, and if he finds any that belong ito him, take them away.

It gives us a great deal of pleasure to make these statements, which acquit the Federal army and its officers of conniving at the escape of slaves. Their conduct is having a tendency to make the class of our population—that is, the portion of them who are rest its and inclined to run away—satisfied that they cannot get away through the instrumentality of the army, and that they had be it remain at home.

A RICH AFFAIR-A MAN DRAWS ON A CITY FIRM FOR A WIFE .- A few days since a respectable business firm on Water street received a letter from a customer near Youngstown, inclosing an order for-a wife! The customer was rich, middle-aged, Dutchman and a widower. He said he wanted a wife right off, and had no time to look up one for himself, but should be in town in the course of a day or two to marry the woman which he depended on his city friends to have ready for him.

Such an order rather took the merchants aback, but the man was too good a customer to disoblige. As they had no supply of the article on hand, for sale, one of the firm went out to hunt it up, and at an Intelli-gence Office got track of a girl who could speak German and English, was tolerably ood looking, and very much wanted to find a husband. A bargain was struck. The Dutchman came in yesterday, found the article ready for him, approved of it, got married, and took his curious purchase home with him.

We did not learn whether the firm charged a special fee or a per centage commission on the market value of the article. Cteveland (O) Herald.

"Consultation and Action our only SAFETY."-Under this head the army core respondent of the Richmond Whig writes: The death-like torpor which hangs like a 225 Third Street, bet. Main and Market spell over our beleaguered country, will speedily accomplish our ruin, unless dispelled at once and forever. The authorities seem actually paralyzed, benumbed, in the presence of the great danger before them The President's speech emits not a beam of seem actually paralyzed, benumbed, in the presence of the great danger before them The President's speech emits not a beam of hope, and it is no wonder that his Cabinet and friends are dumb as oysters. Will, no one speak, and break the spell ere we drift to destruction? There are brave men, clear heads and bold hearts ready to propose as well as to act. Will the President give them a chance to be heard? If so, let him con-vene at Richmond a council of our best Generals, men who have been accustomed to confront danger, men of resources, of tried experience, of known valor, energy,

MESE SEWING MACHINES COMBINE THE THE MEDIAN THE MACHINES COMBINE THE MEDIAN THE MEDIAN TROPOVENENT, are nearly noiseless when in operation, run with the greatest case and rapidity, and are better adapted for general purposes and aming use than any other. They are not liable to get out of order, are exceedingly simple, and are made expressly for real practical utility; they do every variety of sewing, from the finest woven tissue to the heaviest woolen goods, both tailoring and fine leather work. Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time. The great difficulty with all other old-style Machine

The great difficulty with all other old-style Machines is too much complication, requiring so much constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skill and ingenuity to use them to advantage, as to render them of little comparative value.

But the Sewing Machines manufactured by Greenman & True are not liable to these objections, as any person, on even a moment's examination, will readily discover. They will do more and better work than any other Machine ever offered to the public, making the most beautiful lock-stitch, alike on both sides. Send for an off-hand specimen of sewing upon any material you wish, and you will then see how it is done.
